VOL. X.

BISMARCK, D. T., FRIDAY NOVEMBER 3, 1892.

NO. 22.

NEWS COMMENTS.

North Pacific stock 45%; preferred, 94%.

The Tribune knows it is right, and it is going ahead.

The Tribune believes in happy homes, good society, and business prosperity.

The overthrow of the ring will bring the grandest boom that Bismarck ever had.

The welfare of Burleigh county demands that Mr. Griffin shall never become treasurer, and that Richards shall be defeated for registrar of deeds. The gang must go.

Commons S. B. Coulson has been nominated for the territorial council at Yankton by a citizens' meeting. The commodore is a democrat, but stated that he would vote for Raymond.

Politics does indeed make strange bedfellows. It is safe to bet that every vicious, dilapidated old bum in the city hates the Tribune. Yet there are a few reputable citizens and property-holders who will vote with them next Tuesday.

Or Capt. Raymond's speech in Huron a few nights ago the daily Leader says: "Captain Raymond modestly makes no pretensions to oratory, but his speech last night impressed his auditors with the belief that he can express his thoughts in the most eloquent terms."

Whether there is an abuse existing in any community, however strongly intrenched, which is frightening away intending settlers and otherwise damaging that community's "boom," the plan duty of the journalist is to tear down the scarecrow and make it powerless for further injury.

The Tribune humbly believes it has done some pretty fair work for the county of Burleigh in the past in the way of advertising its advantages and recommending it as a place of abode to the people of the east. It doesn't propose to be down and let the ring neutralize the good effects of its labors.

The Tribune is fighting for the right and against the wrong; for honest government against dishonest government; for the agricultural and legitimate business interests of this community; for health and against disease; for immigration and the prosperity of Bismarck against ring rule and slow decay. Which side are you on?

There are persons in this community who have criticized the course of the Tribune, saying it dare not attack "the ring." They have professed to entertain an extraordinary desire for honest government. Now let them come to the front like men and demonstrate the sincerity of their professions by voting for and working for the Citizens' ticket.

When a surgeon has a malignant ulcer to deal with he cuts it open, and lets out the poisonous and diseased matter. He is not deterred from his purpose by the consideration that people will see that there was disease there. He knows that healing and health will come to the man all the sooner for such heroic treatment. The Tribune is engaged just now in a little surgical work.

Speaking of the Tribune's fight the Mandan Pioneer says: The surgeon must cut deep to eradicate a cancer which has fastened itself upon the body; and the Tribune is the moral surgeon who is trying to heal the social and political body of Burleigh county. Either the Tribune's surgery must prevail, or social and commercial death awaits our trans-Missouri neighbors.

The Fargo Evening Post remarks: An ex-heretic goes on to remark that Dakota is the banner county of all America, and we should smile to ourselves. Just examine her record; look at her uncanny soil fairly dripping with riches; look at her heavy crops, as reported by the reporters; look at her immense hay crop, stacked at an average expense of $1.50 per ton; look at her vast resources, everything necessary to build up a powerful commonwealth; look at her intelligent people, the enterprise, ambition and nerve of the older settlers; look at the opening of the great first part of the American continent. Creation's grandest wheat fields beckon the farmer to the land of the golden promise.

Hon. John A. McLean has received a dispatch from the chairman of the republican central committee announcing that Hon. John B. Raymond, Gen. Allen, E. P. Wells, R. A. Bay and others, will speak at Bismarck Saturday evening. While differing on local candidates every republican in Burleigh county will be at the polls on election day for John B. Raymond.

It is unnecessary in opposing Stoyell or his schemes to attack his personal character. It is enough to quote his language, or relate incidents that he has told of himself in his own words. Were he to denounce his grandmother he would tell the boys how he came it over the old lady.

The original Griffin men will be found voting for John H. Richards on election day, and the friends of Wm. Falconer will realize after the count is made how badly they are mistaken. The combination was intended to elect Griffin and Richards, punish McLean and demoralize the republicans.

I support the man that comes down. I can be a d-d good republican, or an almighty active democrat on the day of election. I haven't been "seen" yet.—L. N. Griffin, two years ago.

Those who want to see a just administration of our county affairs; who want to see the good name of our county protected; who want to see crime punished, should vote the Citizens' ticket.

The Mandan Pioneer begs to know as to the date of the touching Jim Bell incident related by the Herald, and wonders who was "rolled" about that time in Mandan.

He is a son of a b—h, let's raise his assessment. He's a d—d good fellow let his assessment stand.—Remarks of members of the equalizing board.

A Word From Chairman Wells—Avenue Still After the Ashland Fiends—Exciting Street Fight in Milwaukee.

Notable Horse Race.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The match race for $2,000 a side made by Isador Cornfield, owner of the chestnut mare Helene, and O. A. Hickok, owner of Overman, was trotted today at Fleetwood park, best three in five, mile heats. The club house and grounds were crowded with lovers of horse-racing, among them Wm. H. Vanderbilt, Elt Stakes, Frank Work, F. Dewey and J. Vanderbilt. Helene had a record of 2:21 made June 9 on the same track, and Overman had a record of 2:20 1/2 made at Buffalo Aug. 2. Helene is by Hambletonian Prince, out of Maxwell mare. Overman is by Elmo, out of Mohawk mare. He came east from California with St. Julien last year, but did nothing, an attack of pinkie disabling him last spring. He had another attack, but recovered in time to start in the grand circuit, when he stamped himself as an animal of the first order. Helene was driven by Joe Murphy, and Overman by his owner. In the first heat Helene took the lead at the start, and at the half-mile post was two lengths ahead. Then Overman began closing up, and gained the mare's wheel and kept almost even on the home stretch. Helene took the heat by half a length. In the second heat Helene again took the lead, and was two lengths ahead on the first turn, to which she added another length at the half mile. Overman again began closing up, and at the three-quarter post he was even with the mare's wheel, passing her on the home stretch and taking the heat by half a length. Time 2:21. In the third heat, at the start Overman broke, and had hardly settled when he broke again, and the mare was fully six lengths ahead on the half mile. Overman again caught her wheel at the three-quarter post, and passing her on the home stretch, by a length. Time 2:23 1/2. In the fourth heat, Helene again took the lead, and was two lengths ahead at the quarter and but one and one-half at the half mile post. Overman, as usual, commenced closing up, but the mare was working well and it looked as though she would take the heat. She broke on the home stretch, and Overman won the heat and the race. Time 2:23. Considerable money changed hands.

Milwaukee Police Tackle a Mob.
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—A terrible fight occurred on Grove street about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, which started over the arrest of a disorderly braken named Charles Reed, by Officers Peterson and Piszczek. He was taken out of a crowd of noisy railroad men, numbering from fifteen to twenty. On his arrest the crowd ordered the officers to let him go or they "would fix them," and commenced bombardment with stones and clubs. The officers then turned and arrested one of the crowd. With this the clubs and rocks came thicker than before, and the officers for protection fired over the crowd, but were met by derisive cries and yells. The police hung on to their prisoners, but had to fight with drawn revolvers until Roundman Pringle, hearing the firing, came running up with reinforcements of two men. Officer Piszczek leveled his revolver on Pringle, who was in citizen's clothes, and yelled, "Halt, or I'll shoot you." "I'm an officer, look out," cried Pringle, who rushed into the mob. Peterson was badly hurt, having received wounds in the breast, hand and legs. Piszczek was also badly pounded about the head and legs.

Prohibition Law Tested.
DAVENPORT, Ia., Nov. 1.—On Thursday last the case of Koehler & Son, vs. Jno. Hill, was tried in the district court here, Judge W. J. Hayes presiding. The case was really brought as a test of the constitutionality of the prohibitory amendment passed by a popular vote last June. The plaintiffs are brewers and sold beer amounting to $715 to a saloon keeper who refused payment on the grounds that the bill could not be collected by law. The court held his decision under advisement until morning, when it was given. The judge decided that the amendment had not been really made a part of the state constitution, chiefly on the grounds that the journals of the legislature do not contain the act in full on their pages, and do not contain the ayes and nays taken on the same, and that according to the journals the act was passed by the senate of the 18th general assembly.

Still After Those Ashland Murderers.
CINCINNATI, Nov. 1.—The Commercial's Lexington, Ky., special says: The troops guarding Neal and Craft, while on their way to the steamer Granite State, were attacked by a mob. The soldiers fired, and several men were killed and wounded. The prisoners and troops got speedily on board, when the mob seized the train and headed off the boat at Ashland, Ky., where another attack was made. The troops returned the fire, and again a number of the mob were killed and wounded. So far as known but three of the troops were wounded and they but slightly. The steamer Granite State has passed Portsmouth, and unless the fog prevents will make Maysville to night, where the prisoners will be transferred to the railroad, to be taken to Lexington.

Crooks Captured.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 1.—James Campbell, a Buffalo crook suspected of counterfeiting, was arrested yesterday at Bradford, and confessed to-day that he and his partner in the past two months have been coining and passing bogus silver dollars, half dollars and five dollar gold pieces. He exhibited molds and samples of the spurious coin and said one thousand one hundred dollars of these counterfeits were buried at a certain point. He also claims to have showed a considerable amount on the banks. Charles Snider, an accomplice of Campbell, was arrested, and on learning that Campbell had turned states evidence, confessed to making the mold and coining the money, of which it is believed some thousands were struck off. It is thought the whole gang will be captured.

Voters of Dakota, Attention.

JAMESTOWN, D. T., Nov. 1.—The Hon. E. P. Wells, chairman of the territorial central committee, issues the following appeal to the press of North Dakota to-day: As the election draws near the central committee begs to call your attention again to the importance of getting out a full vote, and urge upon local committees, candidates, and all other friends of North Dakota, that every vote, either republican or democratic, should be recorded. Division, admission and legislative reappointment all unite to make a full vote of vital importance, not only to the territory at large but to each county. The press can do much to secure the desired result, but their efforts should be augmented by the careful canvass and active work of local committees and candidates.

Another Milwaukee Sensation.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—John B. Le Sueur, a prominent and wealthy banker in this city, who was arrested last Saturday for the seduction of Sylvia Seifer, daughter of Henry Seifer, a wealthy lithographer, was again arrested last night in a civil warrant and placed under bonds of $5,000 to await an action for $25,000 damages by reason of his crime. This also was instigated by Henry Seifer.

The Seguin Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—It required two patrolmen to keep the sidewalk in front of Dr. Seguin's house clear this morning. Hardly did the blue-coats turn their backs, however, than bystanders, prompted by morbid curiosity, approached the building and stared up at the windows of the fourth story front room, in which Mrs. Seguin killed her three children and herself yesterday. Dr. Seguin passed a bad night.

A Rail Wreck.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—A collision today between Lehigh & Susquehanna and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western trains at Diamond Crossing, twenty-five cars were thrown from the track and the engine demolished. John Glynn, watchman, was killed. Several train hands were injured. The wreck was caused by the negligence of a watchman.

A Gale in Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A great gale, accompanied by severe floods, has again visited England. This time devastating the southern and western sections. A dozen houses were swept away by floods at Borough Bridge, and the railroad track was badly torn up in Somerset.

The Doctors are Encouraged.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—The physicians of Gov. Hendricks report to-day that the disease from which he suffers does not seem to be spreading; that the conditions are more favorable; and that they are more encouraged than at any time since the disease appeared.

Love and Muriatic Acid.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 1.—Albert Detwiler, aged 24, attempted suicide today by drinking muriatic acid. Trouble in a love affair with Laura King was the cause. He once worked at Minneapolis as a plumber. He will probably recover.

The Garfield Auditors.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Garfield board of audit are unable to proceed further in the matter of passing upon physicians' claims, as Mrs. Edson's claim has been returned for correction.

Bad Case of Mother-in-Law.

The Mandan Pioneer of last evening says: Jack Weith, well known in Mandan, lives about twelve miles south of Fort Abraham Lincoln on the Missouri bottoms. One year ago last March Jack married a damsel of twenty-two summers, by the name of Mitchell. At the end of two months Jack insisted that Mrs. Weith should "wash out her mouth or leave the shack." Apparently preferring the latter course, she hid to her mother's house some two miles up the river, where she has been ever since. Query: Is a bad breath a good ground for a divorce? Mrs. Weith is now the mother of a fine boy some nine months old. Yesterday afternoon Jack proceeded to his mother-in-law's residence to procure his little dog, that had strayed from home a few days before, and informed two of his neighbors of his errand while on the way. Coming into the vicinity of the house he whistled for the dog, and being seen by Mrs. Mitchell, his parent by marriage, she shut and locked the door. Jack rapped at the door, but such sounds as "you blasted Dutch son of a bitch keep away from this house or I will shoot you," greeted his ears in answer to the inquiries about the canine. The old woman finally opened the door, broom stick in hand, and a wordy combat ensued, in which both sides fought with vigor, until Jack pointed to a wagon standing by and accused the old lady of stealing it from the Trumbulls. Then Mrs. Mitchell, in true mother-in-law style, got a rifle and proceeded to send a bullet after her flying son. He proceeded on his way back to a neighbor and had got some distance when a bullet whizzed over his head, and, starting to run, another was sent through between his arm and skirt of his coat, cutting a neat little hole in the cloth. Jack ran to the house of a neighbor and procured a little shot gun, the hired man in pursuit and whose name is not known, hung around for a time with apparently hostile intentions and finally went back to his female commander. Weith came on horseback last night to Mr. Grant's, this side of Fort Lincoln, where he stayed all night. This morning he came into town and retained Attorney Voss to prosecute the shootists. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of an officer, who will arrest the old woman and her aide-de-camp forthwith.

Wednesday's Republican Convention.

Mr. McLean called the meeting to order and expressed the hope that the action of the convention would be harmonious, and believed it would be excepting on one or two candidates. He called John A. Stoyell to the chair to act as temporary chairman.

Major S. A. Dickey nominated Robert Macnider secretary. He declined and Major Dickey nominated Walter Sterland, who was duly chosen.

Capt. Mantor moved a committee of three on credentials. The chair appointed as such committee, Capt. Mantor, Mr. McLean and Major Dickey.

Capt. Mantor said he was not a delegate, but presumed he had as much right to act on the committee as he had to make the motion. Robert Macnider, A. C. Hinckley and J. H. Marshall, were appointed.

Major Dickey moved a recess until the committee was ready to report.

The committee on credentials reported as follows:

Precinct No. 1.—Washburn, two votes, not represented.

Precinct No. 2.—Two votes not represented. Sam Falconer one vote.

Precinct No. 3.—One delegate not represented.

Precinct No. 4.—Three delegates, not represented.

Precinct No. 5.—Three delegates, not represented.

Precinct No. 13.—One delegate, not represented.

Precinct No. 7.—First ward, city of Bismarck, two votes not represented.

Precinct No. 8.—A. Northrup, with proxies, also for Camp and Donahue.

Precinct No. 7.—H. R. Porter and R. Macnider. Two votes not represented.

Precinct No. 8.—John A. Stoyell, S. A. Dickey, T. W. Griffin and J. H. Marshall.

Precinct No. 9.—Wm. Franklin, L. N. Griffin, Walter Sterland and John P. Hoagland, the latter by Robert Macnider, proxy.

Precinct No. 10.—Stark Farm, A. W. Cameron, Chas. Homer and J. McDonald, proxy to John A. McLean, and Henry Falconer, proxy to Robert Macnider.

Precinct No. 11.—Henry Gager, proxy to Thos. Richards, Donald Stewart and Dugald Campbell, proxy to John A. McLean.

Precinct No. 12.—Daniel Jones, H. J. Crawl, L. Lucas, Jr., and E. S. Neal.

Precinct No. 13.—John I. Steen, Jas. Lowrie, John Robinson, and Park Robinson, proxies to John I. Steen.

Precinct No. 14.—A. C. Hinckley and F. W. Jaquith and L. C. Gould, proxies to Mr. Stoyell.

Mr. Stoyell paid a handsome tribute to Alex. McKenzie, and moved his unanimous nomination by acclamation. The motion was carried.

Mr. Stoyell then moved the nomination by acclamation of the following complete ticket which was carried:

For sheriff—Alex. McKenzie.

County commissioner—Wm. Harmon, 1st district; E. S. Neal, 2d district; John Satterland, 3d district.

Register of deeds—Wm. Falconer.

Assessor—Peter Mantor.

Superintendent of public schools—Wm. A. Bendley.

Judge of Probate—E. N. Corey.

County surveyor—Frank P. Brown.

County coroner—Wm. D. Smith.

Inspector—Chas. M. Oushman.

Justices of the peace—Thos. Richards, Hugh McDonald and H. F. Wogan.

Constables—Donald McKee, Leonard Lucas and Gus Johnson.

Mr. Stoyell then paid a glowing tribute to the republican party and pledged eternal fidelity to it and to every name on the ticket. He denounced the course of the Tribune which he said had disgracefully and dishonorably deserted the republican party in its hour of need, and its course during the past few days would bring shame upon the county. Its course, he said, was dictated by a desire for revenge, and was in the interest of a clique. He referred to an impertinent little son of a Jew. Because the Tribune crowd could not secure his nomination they proposed to kick, and were breaking wind over it like a baby with the bellyache, and he proposed that every man who cared for his party should set down on them. He hoped the convention would bear with these remarks. He was unable to get them into print and felt it to be his duty to denounce these people as they deserved. He continued: "You have nominated a ticket creditable alike to you and your county. If gamblers have been placed upon it they are square gamblers; if horse thieves they are square horse thieves. There is not a man on that ticket who is ashamed of his record."

Major Dickey moved to adjourn.

Capt. Mantor suggested the appointment of a central committee.

Mr. McLean said the committee appointed at the last convention should hold over in order to guard against a split next fall.

The following resolutions were adopted and the convention adjourned:

Resolved, That the republican county convention within and for the county of Burleigh, do hereby endorse the resolutions of the territorial republican convention of Dakota territory, recently passed at Grand Forks, D. T., and

Resolved, That we do jointly and severally endorse the nominations of this convention, and pledge to them and each and every one of them our hearty and unqualified support.

NEWS OF YESTERDAY,

WHICH CAME TO THE TRIBUNE LAST NIGHT.

The Fight at Cattletsburg—The French Troubles—Riot in Vienna—The Lost Milwaukee Girl—Other News.

The Heroes of Cattletsburg.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2.—The Commercial's Frankfort, Ky., special says: The McCreary and Nichols guards, on their arrival from Cattletsburg were welcomed by a formal address, in which their conduct was approved. Gov. Blackburn says he sent troops to Cattletsburg upon the application of Judge Brown, and while deeply sorry for the dead and wounded he could not lay any blame on the troops, and if application is made in February he will send twelve regiments, if necessary, to uphold the law.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 2.—The detachment of the Louisville troops commanded by Capt. D. F. C. Weller, and the light artillery, commanded by Lieut. C. B. Bly, returned to-night from Cattletsburg. They were in the affair at Ashland Wednesday, but escaped without any casualties. Capt. Weller expresses regret at the killing of offending citizens, but claims that no shots were fired at persons on the river bank, though the troops were being fired at from that point. The fire of the troops was directed at the ferry boat, where the mob had long-range army guns.

She Died For Love.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 2.—The search in the river for the body of the missing girl, Maggie Hennecke, has brought about nothing that would throw any light upon the dark mystery which now surrounds the fate of the child. The theory of suicide has, however, been more generally accepted by the public, as well as by the family. The reason for this is found in the statement made by some members of the family in regard to a strong, though youthful attachment of Maggie to a young man named Cobehausen, aged 17 years, who died a few days before the girl disappeared. It is said by some of Maggie's schoolmates that she was greatly attached to him, though of too modest a nature to let it be known to many. Young Cobehausen was a very estimable young man, whose rather untimely death was a great blow to his many friends. That the missing girl should admire him seems not at all improbable, and that his death should weigh heavily upon her mind seems reasonable enough, judging from the description of the girl's character.

Met on the Same Track.

GROVE CITY, Minn., Nov. 2.—Two freight trains on the Manitoba road collided at this place at two o'clock this morning, producing quite an extensive wreck. The down train has the right of way on the main track, but the brakes slipped and it ran by the switch colliding with the up train which was to pass it at this point. The engineer and fireman of the down train jumped and were uninjured, but the engine was made a total wreck, and several flat cars were dented and broken up. The up train escaped with less injury, the principal damage being confined to the engine. The wreck was not cleared away until ten o'clock this morning, and the down train was delayed six hours.

Ought to be Bounced.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—There is much unfavorable comment in the interior department official circles over the recent letter of Indian Inspector Pollock, who some time ago was suspended by order of Secretary Teller. His criticism of Indian Commissioner Price, is regarded as an unkind and ungrateful act. It is now regarded as certain that Pollock's suspension will amount to a virtual dismissal. Secretary Teller having said, that should Pollock take to the newspapers to air his alleged grievances in a matter which was not public property, that he would be compelled to dispense with his services. There is excellent authority for the statement that had Pollock submitted quietly to suspension, in a few weeks he would be re-instated.

A Runaway Coal Car.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 2.—Just before six this evening a loaded coal car broke loose on a grade at McArrey Mine, twenty-five miles from here, on the Northern railroad and rushed down with fearful velocity. There were a number of men on the car, three of whom were killed and two so badly injured they are not expected to live. The killed are Jas. Dougherty, John Harris and Lewis Williams; the wounded are John Lundy, Sr., and John Lundy, Jr. Physicians have gone to the scene of the accident. Dougherty leaves a large family.

A New Style of Disease.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2.—A five year old son of Benj. Smith, near Dardanelles, died yesterday from sores supposed to have been caused by salivation. A postmortem examination convinced the doctors that death resulted from what are known in this latitude as "screw-worms," which penetrate the skin, and the completely honey-combed the inside of the child's mouth. The case has attracted much attention among physicians, but nearly all maintain that medicines strong enough to salivate would kill any species of worm.

Parisian Deviltry.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—A few days since, placards were posted with details as to how the houses could be burnt down or blown up, with a view of bringing justice to the people to bear upon their landlords. The placards bore intrinsic evidence of being the work of comparatively educated revolutionists. The police tore them down as soon as discovered. Since then, the cabinet makers have gone on a strike, and fears are being entertained by the authorities of a riot in that quarter. The troops have been confined to the barracks.

The Yellow Fever Situation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The surgeon general of the marine hospital received a dispatch from Surgeon Marayat, of Brownsville, Tex., to-day, which says: "Fifteen cases of yellow fever. No deaths since last Saturday. No fever inside the line. Have strengthened the upper river line. The quarantine against Matamoros is raised. The collector at Corpus Christi has sent officers to Pensacola to pass all mails now lying at that point. They will be carefully fumigated before leaving Pensacola."

Murdered With a Hoe.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Nov. 2.—News has been received of the murder of Patrick Nead, by Jno. Carpenter, near Dover, in the northern part of Dearborn, Ind. Nead died yesterday morning from a blow by a hoe delivered by Carpenter on Saturday. Nead was drunk and had several quarrels with Carpenter, during the day, and kept following him up, at last attacking him with stones, when the fatal blow was struck. Nead leaves a wife and eleven children.

Murder at Winona, Minn.

WINONA, Minn., Nov. 2.—Last night an old man named Ross, sixty-five years old, was murdered by a fellow named Carl McCormick. The latter struck him with his fist and knocked him down. The fall broke his neck. It appears that McCormick, who is a worthless dissolute fellow, was given ten dollars by one of the republican candidates for the legislature to work for him in the Fourth ward, which is largely democratic. McCormick got drunk and kicked up a brawl, with the results above stated.

Pre-emption Swindles.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Commissioner McFarland, of the general land office, is in receipt of information that in 56 cases of fraudulent pre-emption cases tried in northern Minnesota, but one of the pre-emptors appeared in the hearing, and the cases were declared in favor of the government by default. This result is gratifying to the department, and McFarland thinks it shows beyond question the existence of a conspiracy to defraud.

Another $2,000 "Hoss Race."

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—Ten thousand people witnessed the race between J. D. Barnabee & Co's "Billy," with running mate, and Morse's Yellow Dock, with running mate, for a purse of $2,000, best three in five at Narragansett Park today. Yellow Dock had it all her own way, taking two heats. Time, first heat, 2:10 1/2; second heat, 2:18. Darkness caused a postponement until to-morrow.

Blood and Blaze.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—A riotous demonstration of a serious character occurred here to-day. Three hundred members of the shoemakers' union, which the authorities dissolved a few days ago, gathered in High street, shouting "We must have blood." "We must have a blaze." Police were badly used and several of them were wounded. The troops dispersed the mob.

They Shot His Head Off.

SHERREPORT, La., November 2.—Bill Harris, colored, attempted to outrage a little daughter of George D. Wilder, a planter in Bastrop parish. He was discovered but fled. A crowd of citizens pursued and found Harris last night at his wife's house and shot his head off with twenty guns.

Gone Home to Vote.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—It is estimated that three clerks out of every ten employed in the executive department of the government, have either gone home to vote or will go between now and Monday next. In the office of Treasurer Gillfillan current business will be retarded because of voting absentees.

It's All Right.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Miss Mary Winchester, whose mysterious disappearance three weeks ago created a sensation, has suddenly returned home. She claims to be married to George Williams, but hasn't her certificate with her. Her parents say it is all right.

Another Platform Collapses.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—At a political meeting in the stock yard to-night, a temporary platform containing a large number of persons fell. A dozen or more were injured, five or six quite seriously. Two or three arms and legs were broken. Patrick McNeary had his head crushed, and it is thought he will die.

A Fresh Outrage.

Night before last a German girl came on the train from the east, and inquired at the depot for Fred Selle's place. A being in the shape of a man stepped up to her and said he was going down there and would show her the way. He took her to a place at the landing, two miles from where she desired to go. The poor girl discovered something was wrong and ran away. She was taken care of by Frank Schmokey and brought to Louis Westhouser's chilled and frightened half to death, after 10 o'clock Wednesday night, where she found friends. When the right prevails and Bismarck wipes out the stains resting on its good name, such a game will not likely be attempted. Let every man who favors fair play in politics, just treatment for the unfortunate, and protection for immigrants, vote the Citizens' ticket.

CITIZENS' COUNTY TICKET.

The citizens' association having appointed a committee of fifty to nominate a county ticket, that committee has reported as follows:

Whereas, It has always been impossible for the members of either party in Burleigh county to get together in caucus or convention and nominate by fair means, or fair representation, without the interference of persons claiming affiliation with one party and then with the other, working wholly in their own interests without reference to the public good or public rights, the committee chosen for the purpose recommend the following candidates for the positions named, to be supported at the ensuing election by the voters of Burleigh county who desire to see the right prevail, and secure an honest and faithful administration of our county affairs:

For Sheriff
ALEX. MCKENZIE.

For County Treasurer
W. B. BELL.

For Register of Deeds
E. M. FULLER.

For County Superintendent of Schools
WM. A. BENTLEY.

For County Assessor
JOHN V. KEGEN.

For Judge of Probate
F. J. CALL.

For County Surveyor
FRANK P. BROWN.

For County Coroner
W. D. SMITH.

For County Commissioner
WM. HARMON, 1st district.
EUGENE S. NEAL, 2d district.
JOHN SATTERTLAND, 3d district.

For Justice of the Peace
E. M. BROWN.
OSCAR BALL.
JOSEPH H. TAYLOR.

For Constable
J. W. JOHNSON.
DONALD MCKEA.

LET THERE BE LIGHT.

THE TRIBUNE has remained silent, heretofore, when it would have been far more creditable for it to speak of the outrageous conduct of public affairs in this city and county, because it did not wish to publish abroad faults and shortcomings that would reflect upon the good name of our country and because the people were not ready to rise as they are to-day, and end the disgraceful proceedings by uniting, irrespective of party, and making a battle for their rights. Richards, Stoyell and Griffin, with the help of elements more or less respectable have had their own way in all things. The county and city has been run for their benefit, and the purpose of the campaign this fall is to keep them in position. Richards and Griffin have been partners for years in gambling, and it would be exceedingly interesting for them to continue in partnership while in charge of the public records and the public funds. Even assuming that they would be honest and straightforward in all things, their election together would give abundant cause for uneasiness.

The TRIBUNE can tell the voters why Fargo, Valley City, Jamestown and Mandan have prospered beyond Bismarck, which might have been a town of 6,000 people instead of but 3,000.

It can tell the laboring men why brick buildings have not been erected; why the railroad shops will be built at another point instead of at Bismarck; why there was a move on the part of the river men to change the steamboat business to the west side of the river.

It can tell why only the excavation was made for a brick block at the corner of Main and First streets, and the $20,000 intended for investment at Bismarck by Mr. Hale was turned into different channels. Pat Kelly's story of how he was beaten out of $9,000 at Bismarck was sent to every wholesale house in the United States, and he has told hundreds of men whose good opinion of Bismarck would have been worth something, that when here pressing a just claim he believed his life was in danger and walked about the street with a revolver in his overcoat pocket and his hand on it expecting assault.

The story of the fire engine purchased for $3,500 for which the manufacturing company never received one cent has also been told and has had its due effect in diverting capital from the town. The agent got out of town with $350 and appropriated that for his commission.

The story of the canvass of the votes two years ago which cost a candidate $1,000 and resulted in a law making Statesman county the senior county in this legislative district, in order to protect future candidates from like imposition, to call it a mild term, has never been published. Volumes could be written that would be exceedingly interesting reading to the tax payers and laboring men of this county, nearly every one of whom realize the necessity for a change that will place the management of the affairs of Burleigh county on a business basis.

The TRIBUNE hoped things would change for the better and that this fight would never be necessary, but no crowd of democrats led by Major Dickey, Charley Louis and Billy Franklin can crowd a ticket down its throat and call it republican, and the day has passed, also, when this same party can control democratic nominations and command the respectable democratic vote.

BISMARCK ABROAD.

The following criticisms, to some extent unjust, serve to show the reputation that Bismarck has gained abroad through the course some of its citizens have taken:

"The Pioneer cannot refrain from expressing its full and complete sympathy with the Bismarck TRIBUNE in the outspoken, manly contest it is making against the powers of darkness in that community. From the hour of its birth, Bismarck has been peculiarly unfortunate in the character of the men who have controlled its destinies. Saloon keepers, pimps and gamblers have constituted the crude materials out of which and through whom have been selected their county and city officials. Two years ago our neighbors commenced a new era by selecting two or three reputable gentlemen to serve them in an official capacity, and it was hoped and expected by the best element that the election of this fall would complete the revolution by filling all the county offices with good and respectable material. But again the harlotries and the gambling houses are to the fore, seeking to crowd out decent material and to crowd in their own disreputable agents."

The DAILY TRIBUNE this fall comes to the front in a manly fashion and makes a fight from the shoulder in the interest of good government, and the future growth and prosperity of its locality. In this matter the Pioneer is in full sympathy and accord with the TRIBUNE. The era of the rule of the harlots and gamblers, and their pimps and agents, has terminated at Mandan, and we feel like sustaining the TRIBUNE in putting an end to it in Bismarck. Very largely the interests of the two counties at the Missouri crossing are identical, and what will retard the prosperity of one handicaps the other. Bismarck has been a stench in the nostrils of decent communities in Dakota. It remains to be seen whether the efforts of the TRIBUNE will be sustained by the popular voice in Burleigh county, or whether the rule of the mob and the plunderers must be endured for another two years.

In this connection the Pioneer desires to say a good word for Alex. McKenzie, the competent sheriff of Burleigh county. For ten years he has been the one redeeming ray of light in the Egyptian darkness of Burleigh county politics. But for him there would have been a reign of social chaos in Bismarck since the first day of its existence. We are glad to know that Mr. McKenzie has no opposition this fall, and that his large influence is cast in favor of the law and order element of the community in their fight with the powers of darkness.

THE TRIBUNE has been in position to hear more of the stories that are reported by traveling men, told by discharged soldiers and handed around among those seeking investment in this county, than our general business men, and knows only too well the disastrous effect on our city and county. Stories of drugged liquors, of doctored cigars, of trusts reupudiated, and of games of almost every sort, some of which would make a highwayman blush, have been handed in for publication, sometimes with affidavits attached, but they have been suppressed for the honor of Burleigh county, not for a money consideration—nor for personal reasons.

These stories, whether true or false, being repeated, have had their effect, and have been heard in the lobby of the hotels at St. Paul, Chicago, New York and other eastern cities, and are found charged to the account of this county, where they have resulted in injury to every property holder and every laboring man in the county. Great headway was made in overcoming the evil resulting from them during the past year, when the people commenced pulling together to boom the country and to secure the investment of capital in Bismarck, but the same element which has heretofore controlled the politics of the county, supported by some good men, it is true, appear to be determined to continue or place in office those who might, at least, have prevented many of the disgraceful stories that have been told of our county from gaining credence.

The parties who have been at fault, through neglect or otherwise, surely ought to be willing to step aside now and grant a new deal, but instead they are making their most desperate struggle—struggling as if to hold on as is important to them as a question of life or death.

It is represented that this contest is wholly a bank fight. God help our city if such is the case. Behold the beauties of such a contest at Valley City. Others say it is a fight on the brick block. See the curse that has rested upon Yankton because of its Broadway and Capitol street controversy.

The directors of the First National bank are too shrewd to permit the controversy to take the form of a bank fight. The Bismarck National has been injured in many ways, by the election of one of its officers as county treasurer. He did his duty—collected the taxes without fear or favor, and although he made enemies he deserves respect and support because of it.

If the sinking fund, now amounting to $12,000 is used to purchase for the county its outstanding bonds, thus saving to the county $1,200 per year interest, the deposits of the treasurer are of precious little value to any bank. A dozen men brought into the county to engage in business or manufacturing would be worth more to either bank than the county treasurership, and square dealing will bring them. The talk of this controversy being a bank fight is indeed idle. It is a fight of the people for the right to choose by fair means and by fair representation their county officers. And if we mistake not a very respectable portion of the people in number are ready to make the battle.

ELSEWHERE will be found names placed in nomination by the citizens' committee, for the several county offices to be filled at the election this fall.

The ticket was nominated by a committee of fifty selected for the purpose from representative citizens of the county.

It will be noticed that the men selected have been chosen because of their reputation for integrity, and because of their well known ability, and without regard to party.

There is a feeling that men having no interest in the county have long enough chosen our representatives. A feeling that the business interests and laboring classes have long enough been ignored in the distribution of public favors.

Caucuses and conventions of the democratic as well as of the republican party have been controlled by the same men, and the nominations of both parties have been made in the same interest.

These people controlled the recent republican primaries in the city, and in like manner the late so called democratic convention, and a very large portion of both parties are in rebellion.

These nominations make a split in the republican ranks. They accomplish the same thing for the democratic party, and unite in one solid phalanx a very large portion of the men in the county who care for its prosperity.

The tax payers have withdrawn their ticket and endorse this, and are heart and hand in the movement for a better era in the politics of this county.

The TRIBUNE commends this ticket to the people of this county, and places it at its mast head.

SOME resident should make a complete list of the legal voters in each voting precinct in this county. The polling places are so arranged that the elector can vote at two or three places if he wishes to take the risk, and judging of the future by the past, they will be invited to do so. It will be discovered, however, that there is money and pluck sufficient among the tax payers and honest men of this county to prosecute to the bitter end those who are bold enough to try fraudulent voting. Men landing from steamboats en route to the states, members of Billy Marble troupes, civilian employees at the military posts, &c., together with non-resident bidders, had better not try a hand this fall in choosing officers for Burleigh county.

It will be noticed that thirteen of the delegates apportioned to the several precincts remained out of the convention as a silent protest against the shameful manner in which the republican primaries were run in this city. Their protest was respected, too, by the convention and the citizen's ticket, which these delegates are known to favor, was almost wholly endorsed. No attempt was made to change the republican central committee because it is believed the split which has been made in the republican ranks can and will be healed long before the next campaign. The split virtually extends only to the candidate for county treasurer, although Griffin's candidacy has a decided influence on the canvass for register of deeds.

STOYELL, with all of his professed love for the republican party, was a candidate for district attorney against his nominee four years ago, and stumped the district for the democratic nominee for congress. Six years ago he opposed Judge Kilday because he did not come down financially, and two years ago supported only one man on the republican ticket, and that service was paid, or "disbursed," they sometimes call it, $1,000. He worked for Richards (democrat) all day long and always has every time he has been a candidate, and proclaims himself now a Richards man as against any one that could be named.

ALEX. MCKENZIE was chosen sheriff in 1874, after the death of Sheriff Miller by a legally constituted board of commissioners, and he has been re-elected from time to time. Receiving in every instance a fair and square majority of the votes polled. He has done his duty as sheriff, making a record of which any man might be proud. He is first in promoting every public enterprise, and first in deeds of charity; he is one of the largest property holders in the county, and is deeply interested in preserving its integrity. These are reasons enough why he should be retained while a change in other offices is demanded.

In the democratic district convention at Jamestown last evening, Capt. D. W. Maratta, superintendent of the Coulson line of steamers at Bismarck, was nominated for the council, and is the best nominee on the ticket. J. W. Goodrich, a machine man of Jamestown, was nominated for the house from Statesman and W. E. Jones, a lumber merchant from Valley City, also for the house from Barnes county. He is a weak candidate and will be beaten out of his boots. C. W. Nash, the nominee for district attorney, is also overwhelmingly doomed.

THE lis pendens which was filed in the office of the register of deeds by Geo. W. Sweet in the case of Hughes vs. the corporate authorities in 1878, and which has been allowed to remain on record since that time, thereby casting a cloud upon about 100 lots in the city of Bismarck, was Monday canceled of record by order of the court, made upon the motion of the city attorney, Geo. P. Flannery.

THE county treasurer's office has not been regarded worth having heretofore, and so it has been conceded to the business element, but that twelve thousand dollars of the sinking fund which ought to be invested, every dollar of it, in the bonds of the county, and thus save ten per cent interest to the county is now wanted by members of the county ring.

Two years ago H. G. Coykendall was nominated for county treasurer, Mr. Griffin himself supporting the nomination. Mr. Griffin left that convention and worked until the polls closed for the election of the democratic candidate and none need be surprised if he is found out of the field on election day again working for the democratic candidate.

MR. GRIFFIN does not claim he is competent to keep the books or do the work of the county treasurer's office, or that he expects to do it elected, while Mr. Bell, his opponent is one of the best accountants in the territory. He has made a faithful officer, collecting taxes from friend and foe alike, not shirking any duty.

JOSEPH TAYLOR, writing the editor of the TRIBUNE from Painted Woods, says: "Your editorial in Saturday's daily, on the local political situation, is heartily endorsed by all classes and parties who have the interests of the county at heart, other than the interested parties whom you assail."

Mr. Griffin has never supported a candidate since his residence in this county for party reasons. Personal interest has always governed him, and he has never disguised the fact that he acted politically only from personal or mercenary motives.

SETTLERS' round trip tickets, good for forty days on the North Pacific are sold only to Jamestown, Dawson, Steele or Bismarck. These are the respective localities which the North Pacific people are now anxious to settle up.

GRIFFIN was placed in the field for the purpose of re-electing John H. Richards register of deeds, and on election day, he will be found working for John H. Richards.

RICHARDS is the sly old son of Darwin, who is using republican paws to pull chestnuts out of the fire, and Stoyell pulls the wires.

EVERY vote that L. N. Griffin can control, excepting possibly his own, will be polled for John H. Richards on election day.

CURRENT COMMENT.

THE St. Paul Globe is getting to be a first-class newspaper.

MISS MARGARET MATHEW, the young tragedienne, has pleased the people of St. Paul immensely.

ANYBODY who can follow the thread of the star route trial and all its various complications has a good head for knotty problems.

THE Northwestern Trades Gazette is the name of a new monthly publication in Milwaukee, a valuable paper for northwestern merchants.

THE gamblers of Minneapolis are writhing under the lash of the Tribune. The Tribune says it will continue to create all the discomfort for them that it can.

ALTHOUGH not claiming any oratorical abilities Capt. Raymond is making a very enviable record throughout the territory as a sensible and pleasing speech-maker.

THE "rough-shod" guardians of the peace at Grand Forks should be treated to a salutary dose of smooth-shod justice in the regular courts for their late outrage on Dr. Elliott.

THE recovery of Gov. Hendricks is considered very doubtful. Erysipels in his feet shows signs of developing into gangrene, a disease that killed his father and grandfather.

IT is creditable to the Grand Forks papers that they condemn the violence done the man Elliott, but they approved the lynching of Thurber, the act which did much to produce the tar and feather mistake.

CONSUMPTION suggested by the late Grand Forks affair: If one man purposely and wilfully kills another man, the killer is a murderer. If a number of men kill a man under the same conditions, what are they?

A NEW YORK correspondent of the Pioneer Press had a dream of going down the bay at 3 o'clock in the morning to interview the Jersey Lily, who used lots of slang, and told him she was "on the make." But this was only a dream.

MARK GRAY LYON, the crank who rose up from the audience in a Chicago theatre one night, about three years ago, and fired a pistol at Edwin Booth, has just been released from the insane asylum, to which he was consigned at that time.

CORRECT observation by the Jamestown Capital: While we sit beneath sunny skies and the light and balmy chook winds the day gently about, our friends in the east imagine we are surrounded by howling blizzards and Arctic frosts.

THE Chicago Herald says Jay Gould is coming west, and is afraid one of the phenomenal veracious reporters of that city will get him to say something as damaging to him as was the recent emphatic expression of Wm. H. Vanderbilt to that gentleman. What a Chicago reporter can't make a man say isn't worth uttering.

THE latest exploit of the Grand Forks ruffians in the dispensing of what the Herald calls "rough-shod" justice seems to have been a murder. Behind the tar and the feathers Dr. Elliott is doubtless chuckling to think how they were fooled.

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES puts a quietus to the movement to make him next United States senator from Ohio, by declaring that he is out of politics, and means to stay out. Mr. Hayes is in much bigger business. He runs a Burleigh county bonanza farm.

CHARLES E. SLAYBACK, brother of the dead Col. Slayback, of St. Louis, is said to have acknowledged that it was impossible for him to harbor any feelings of revenge against Col. Cockerill, and that the dead man's own hasty conduct was the cause of his late misfortune.

THE Pioneer Press is trying to outwit General Passenger Agent Teasdale, of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha road, and out with a flaming poster advertising the merits of the paper which are too well known in the northwest to need endorsement by the TRIBUNE.

A FEW days ago a Huron paper claimed that Huron is the "hub" of Dakota. Now Jamestown claims to be the "political hub." The TRIBUNE doesn't believe Bismarck will complete for the honor, but the rivalry of our little friends will be watched with interest. What is a "hub," anyway?

THE election of John M. Dolph as senator from Oregon, assures the republicans of a majority in the senate after the 15th of March next. Mr. Dolph is a man of vast wealth, fifty-four years of age. He is state senator, grandmaster of Masons, and vice-president of the Transcontinental railway.

MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE: If A. A. Ames were elected to congress he would not act with his party in preventing the admission of Dakota as a state, simply because it will be a vote for the legislature. Minnesota is vitally interested in the welfare and advancement of Dakota, and will not consciously strike a blow at her prosperity.

MRS. SCOVILLE has been adjudged insane in the Chicago courts, but is not considered at all dangerous. This is fortunate. She needn't be shut up, and she and George can manage in some way to come before the public occasionally, until the latter becomes sufficiently prominent to seek a gubernatorial or presidential position.

ON Saturday, Oct. 28, the theatre-going population of Boston will honor the semi-centennial of the debut of William Warren, Boston's oldest and favorite actor, upon the stage. In November Warren will have attained his seventieth year. He made his debut in a Philadelphia theatre fifty years ago as young Norval. He is now the idol of the Boston museum stage.

IN every community there are men possessing a constitutional love of violence. A lynching is a picnic for these fellows, since it gives them an opportunity to gratify their appetite for murder with impunity from that very same justice, the alleged love of which they make their justification. Morally they are murderers. Why should they not be so held in the eyes of the law?

A PALESTINE (Ind.) saloon keeper's establishment has just been dynamited for the fourth time by temperance fanatics. The citizens, it is announced, have become too familiar with that sort of business, to be excited over the affair. Some people would have been satisfied with being blown up once and moved away, but this man seems to be as constant to his course as was the lamented Caesar, whose constancy caused his death.

THE abductors are losing stock in little boys and are favoring prepossessing looking girls, 15 or 17 years of age. In case of a failure to secure ransom, they can realize on them in a viler way. Maggie Hennicke is the latest, and belonged in Milwaukee. She has not yet been heard of. In Cleveland Saturday a female brigand attempted to abduct a girl in open day, but was persuaded to reconsider the matter. It is becoming an "industry."

THE following from the Bozeman Avant Courier, shows how the TRIBUNE is regarded by outsiders as a defender and boomer of Burleigh county interests. It is respectfully commended to the perusal of Stoyell, Griffin, and the "gang." "The Bismarck Weekly TRIBUNE has recently been enlarged and improved. It is a standing credit to the live town and magnificent county it so earnestly and ably represents."

THE Grand Forks Herald of the 26th inst., says: Yesterday public excitement over the lynching of Thurber completely subsided, and while it was the universal theme of conversation, yet it was mainly good humored comment and recitals of amusing episodes omitted from the reports. "The sober second thought," which is supposed to come after excitement has died out fully, ratifies the rough-shod justice with which the miserable wretch was treated. While there were many things to be regretted and the conduct of the lawyers was reprehensible in many particulars, the main fact that the foul outrage was hung, and well hung, was a cause for almost universal congratulation.

PIONEER PRESS: Judge W. W. Broome, of Sioux Falls, whom the democratic committee selected as a forlorn hope for their candidate for congress, is a very singular gentleman. He has been making a canvass in the southern counties, and has been on his way to do the same thing along the line of the North Pacific road. He seems to think that he can be elected because he is an old republican and a highly esteemed resident, and because he can make a better speech than Raymond. He will probably find that the fact that he is the candidate of the democratic party will loom largely in the eyes of the republicans of Dakota than these truths, indisputable though they may be.

THE TRIBUNE has received a copy of N. W. Ayer & Son's American newspaper Annual for 1882. It is probably the neatest and most complete work of the kind ever published. It contains a carefully prepared list of all newspapers and periodicals published in the United States and Canada, arranged by states in geographical sections, and by towns in alphabetical order. It indicates the politics and general position of each newspaper, and is a valuable work for all business men to have, and especially so to advertisers.

THE Fargo Argus prints the following from the Deadwood Pioneer without comment, and under the heading "A Correct Statement." The Fargo Argus publishes an extract from the Inter-Ocean, without contradiction, attributing the speech of Proctor Knott at congress on "Duluth, the Zenith City of the Unsettled Seas," to the pen of Col. Pat. Doonan. The modesty of that gushing sheet is wonderful. There isn't anything from the pentateuch down to the silly twaddle of the daily Argus, including the declaration of independence and the Lord's prayer that one or the other of the insufferable, self-conceited asses who preside over that embodiment of egotistical vanity and bombastic nonsense won't claim the credit of writing.

I WILL not withdraw in favor of Griffin or any one else. I propose to run for county treasurer and want my friends to understand it.—Jack Waldon, elsewhere in this paper.

Let's turn this into a mass convention. There are more democrats here than republicans.—Exact language of James A. Emmons at yesterday's so-called republican convention.

THE people should sit down upon the TRIBUNE. It encourages immigration. If there is anything I hate, it is to see these puritanical s—s of b—s come to Bismarck.—John A. Stoyell.

WHAT I don't know about parliamentary rules isn't worth considering, and I am also great on making motions. You will notice that my master and I made all the motions in yesterday's convention.—Major Dickey.

OF course my regular salary don't amount to much, but I sometimes strike a tenderfoot who doesn't know the recording fees prescribed by law. I once charged $25 for a marriage license. That where I get my gr—t m—.—John H. Richards.

SAV of me what you please: tell all you know of my crookedness; and then come to me and I'll tell you meaner things of myself than you ever dreamed of. I'd rather be notoriously bad than no orally good.—John A. Stoyell.

ISROUD in with Bohon of the Pioneer Press. I gave him immense orders for printed matter and books, and he gave me railroad tickets whenever I wanted to go east. I have a fine set of books. It cost the county a good deal, but nothing is too rich for my blood, and the county can stand it.—John H. Richards.

THE Pioneer Press of last Wednesday contained the following: Evidence is accumulating that the tarring and feathering of Dr. Elliott in Grand Forks, was a most cruel and unjustifiable outrage. The town authorities have tardily awakened to a sense of their duty and responsibility, and are doing all they can for the injured man. He now lies at the house of a friend, critically ill with inflammation of the lungs, induced by exposure after his rough treatment. There is a disposition in Grand Forks to hold a few persons responsible for the outrage, but it was anybody in the place who did not acquiesce in and applaud the act, when it was first committed. The telegraphic reports and local press fail to show it. The good name of the whole community will suffer from the occurrence. It is said that legal proceedings will be taken against the perpetrators of the outrage, and it is to be hoped that the result will be such as to instigate caution and discrimination among Dakota mobs hereafter.

DAKOTA Register (Clamberglain): John B. Raymond more than surprised his friends by his sensible and eloquent speech Tuesday evening. Whoever says Capt. Raymond can't make a speech is badly mistaken. The people of Dakota will hear from him in congress.

A THEATRE FIRE.

TOTAL DESTRUCTION OF ABBY'S THEATRE, NEW YORK.

Mrs. Langtry's Wardrobe Among the Property Destroyed—Too Much Justice at Grand Forks—Other Important News.

Abby's Theatre Burned.

New York, Oct. 30.—Abby's Park theatre is on fire. Mrs. Langtry was to have opened there to-night.

New York, Oct. 30.—Abby's theatre took fire this afternoon and was totally destroyed. The fire started in the proscenium in the rear of the second tier of boxes on the right of the stage. It is believed to have been caused by a gas explosion. The flames spread with great rapidity and caught the drop curtain, driving from the building the stage hands who were setting the stage. They had previously made a vain effort to put out the fire with extinguishers, but it is said they would not work. Henry Clarke, a stage hand, was burned in the endeavor to lower the drop curtain. He jumped from a window into Broadway, a height of twenty feet, and had a leg broken. William Doran, aged 27 years, a scene painter, was badly bruised. Both men were taken to the hospital. Mrs. Langtry's costumes for "An Unequal Match," the play in which to-night she was to make her first appearance in America, were burned, together with the costumes of other members of the company, and also the very beautiful scenery. Nothing was saved. The total loss will reach $350,000. Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Labouchere watched the fire from the balcony of their hotel, two blocks away. They were greatly shocked.

The Jamestown Convention.

JAMESTOWN, D. T., Oct. 30.—[Special]—At the democratic district convention held here this evening, but few counties were represented. Capt. D. W. Maratta, of Bismarck, was nominated for the council. J. W. Goodrich, of Stutsman county, and W. E. Jones, of Barnes county, for the house. C. W. Nash, of Barnes county, was nominated for district attorney. Friends of the nominees are jubilant and confident of their success.

Bad Break for Grand Forks.

GRAND FORKS, Oct. 30.—Dr. Elliott, who was arrested and feathered Friday night for exposing his person to school girls, and who immediately afterwards disappeared, has been found. He is at East Grand Forks, very low, and a committee of doctors waited upon him. He denies having made any confession to the vigilance committee. People here generally disapprove the affair as an outrage, there being a strong belief in Elliott's innocence.

Let Slip the Dogs of War.

JAMESTOWN, Oct. 30.—Chairman Wells, of the central committee, announces an active campaign in North Dakota from now till election. Among the prominent speakers who have signified their willingness to talk for Raymond are: Gen. Allen, United States marshal; Hugh S. Campbell, A. W. Edwards, Gov. Ordway and Secretary Hand.

Bismarck in Trouble at Ft. Yates.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 30.—A special from Fort Yates says: Three thousand Indians, who left their reservation three weeks ago, have captured five white men with sixteen ponies and 700 buffalo hides. The whites were trespassing and liable to a fine of $500 and confiscation of their belongings. They are from near Bismarck.

Sullivan Challenged.

Why They Quit Work.

Beware of the Penalty!

If you are a citizen of the United States or have taken out your "first papers," and have resided in the territory since August 9th, 1882, in Burleigh county since October 18th, and in the precinct five days prior to next Tuesday then you can vote. If you attempt to vote under any other circumstances, then you violate the law and will suffer the penalty. The law is published elsewhere.

Wallace Declines.

EDITOR TRIBUNE.—My attention has just been called to a ticket published in Sunday's issue in which my name appears as a candidate for the office of assessor. My name has been used without my knowledge or consent. I am not and will not be a candidate for office at the coming election. I am trying to give my time and attention to my own private business, and will be thankful to friend or foe who will allow me to do so. On election day I will go to the polls and vote for nominees irrespective of party "clap trap." I shall be governed by the good of the county and territory. Yours, J. F. WALLACE.

North Pacific Tree Planting.

Last spring the North Pacific railroad company determined to plant trees along its line of road from Fargo west, with a view to protecting the cuts from snow (the timber belts to take the place of snow fences), and to encourage the settlers by way of example in the matter of tree culture. Leonard B. Hodges, who had a similar position on the line of the Manitoba road, was secured to superintend this work. There are 200 cuts between Bismarck and Fargo, or one every mile. They average sixty feet in length, and the strips of ground to be planted embrace in all 364 acres. The ground has been broken early in the summer, and has been "backset" this fall, and is in condition for planting in the spring. There will be two belts of trees of three rows each on the north side of the track, and one belt of three rows on the south side. The belts are from one to two hundred feet from the track and within right of way limits. If planted in a single row, one foot apart in the row, the trees would form a line 365 miles long, or from St. Paul to Jamestown. In the parks and belts something over 2,000,000 trees will be used between Fargo and Bismarck. Those used are cottonwood, box elder, ash, soft maple, elm and white willow. They are being gathered on the bottom lands of the Missouri at $1 per thousand delivered at the depot at Bismarck. Farmers are also gathering large quantities of trees for their own use, and it will not be long, with the example set by the railroad company, before the country along the line of the North Pacific will have an abundance of timber. This is one of the regions in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa that were open prairie less than thirty years ago, and the farmers in those regions long since learned that it was far easier to produce forests than to remove them. The company will continue their work until most of the right of way in the prairie regions is planted to timber, and within a few years these belts will furnish ties for renewals, and in the meantime millions upon millions of cuttings for the settlers. The course of the North Pacific in this matter is worthy of all praise. They have secured the services of one (Mr. Hodges) who has devoted the best part of his life to the culture of the western prairies, and have supplied him with unlimited means to make his work successful, and it will be as far-reaching in its effect as was the initiation of bonanza farming under the administration of George W. Cass.

Simmons Wouldn't be Robbed.
The Mandan Pioneer has the following, which shows the record of a man run out of Mandan by the law and order party:

MANDAN, October 28.
F. H. EATTEL—Dear Sir: In your paper of yesterday you report me as saying before the citizens' meeting that Jack Simmons would swear that he was drunk and was robbed at Bell's saloon. What I said was that Jack Simmons would swear that he saw a man there drinking and James Bell in the act of robbing him. Please correct this, as I know Jack Simmons too well to think he would ever allow Bell to rob him.

JOHN FOGARTY.

Dan Scott's Suspenders.

Deadwood Pioneer: The Bismarck refers to the hundred dollar suspenders worn by a Deadwood man, as stated by the Times recently, as "Dan Scott's suspenders," and recommends that he get a thousand dollar pair of breeches to match them. Thus we are made to suffer the wealth and extravagance of our bonanza mine owners.

Big Shoot at Leavenworth.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 27.—At the close of the three days' army contest on the range at Fort Leavenworth to-day the successful marksmen stood in the following order:

Barrett, of the Atlantic division; Dug Clark, of the Pacific; James, Missouri; Dug Clark, of the Pacific; Harrington, Pacific; Houser, Atlantic; Stanton, Missouri; Menomon, of the Missouri; Benley, Missouri; Wegner, Missouri; O'Keefe, Pacific. After the close of the contest the four troops of cavalry, one battery of artillery and five companies of infantry, comprising the garrison of the fort, were drawn up on the parade ground in full dress. The marksmen were then drawn up in the center of the battalion, and Lieut. Rodman, regimental adjutant of the Twentieth infantry, read the order awarding prizes. Generals Sherman and S. A. were also in the center of the battalion, surrounded by Senator Logan, Gov. F. P. O'Connell, Lieut. Rodman, and other staff and regimental officers. At the conclusion of the reading of orders to the marksmen stepped forward and in a loud voice, giving good soldierly advice, and commending them on their success as marksmen, personally presented the gold medal to Sergeant Barrett, of the Twentieth infantry. He then in like manner presented a gold medal to Sergeant Clark, of the Pacific, and James of the Atlantic, and silver medals to Sergeant Dug Clark, of the Pacific, Private Harrington, of the Pacific, and Lieut. Henry, of the artillery. These six being the highest of the twelve. This closed the presentation of prizes, after which the troops were dismissed. Gen. Sherman and Senator and Mrs. Logan, Lieut. Rodman, Gen. Sherman for St. Louis, and Gen. Sheridan and Senator Logan for Kansas City.

Political Example.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The following letter to Governor Cornell was mailed to-day:

STATE OF NEW YORK, EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 14, 1882.—Dear Sir: Although personally a stranger to you, permit me to offer my respectful and sincere congratulations on the noble and honorable stand you have taken in declining to secure a seat in Congress, and the conditions required of you as the best party manager. The honest and upright man, who in the past has been corrupted by the extraneous expenditures of money, is one of the best features of our times, and it is a wholesome demonstration when men of mind refuse to recognize this disgraceful and corrupting system. Your position, in the opinion of all good citizens, is far more honorable than a dozen terms in Congress as a result of bribery and corruption. With sincere respect and esteem, yours very truly,

ALONZO B. CORNELL.
To the Hon. L. W. Cronkrite, Sand Hill, New York.

A Desperate Young Man.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Charles Schroeber, aged 27, a foreman of feed handlers of the Third Avenue railroad company at 650 H street and Third Avenue, made a deliberate attempt this afternoon to murder his mother-in-law, Mrs. Schroeber, who lived at 100 West 10th street. He fired two shots without doing injury. Then pulling the pistol to his own head he blew his brains out. Schroeber died in fifteen minutes. The causes that led to the blood-tragedy are wrapped in mystery. President Lyon is utterly ignorant of any motive. The pistol was held so close to President Lyon's face that the powder burnt the skin on the forehead, and the ball struck a rib.

French Conspirators.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The recent labor troubles appear to be due to the anarchists conspiracy, an organization composed of young men, and thoroughly organized, which held regular monthly meetings in Geneva. A rapid succession of fires in America causes much uneasiness. The government is being freely criticized for not interfering along the trial of the prisoners arrested for rioting during the trouble at New Orleans. The latest last August, although it is not expected they will escape punishment. Two republican newspapers at Lyons have been warned that their offices will be blown up.

Fast Philadelphia Foolishness.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—The final ceremonies of the centennial celebration took place to-night at the academy of music. After the musical exercises, which were participated in by 1,300 school children, District Attorney Graham delivered an address. He was followed by Governor Hoot, who read the dedications and labors of those who had devoted and managed the celebration could be expected in two words: "Triumph and Success." The Rev. Dr. Colett, president of Lafayette college, closed the exercises with a benediction.

Bad Gang of Juveniles.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The detectives have discovered a bold band of young forgers with headquarters here, and accomplices at St. Paul. For some time much forged paper was floated, but the organization was so complete that principle offenders cannot be located. All are said to hold responsible positions. The forgeries amounted to several thousand dollars. Two of the gang were arrested last evening. The detectives are very mysterious. The son of a leading merchant is implicated.

She Lies on the Beach.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The steamer Alena, for Central American ports, soon after leaving the dock came in collision with the United States iron clad Nantucket, and had the iron casing on her bow smashed. The Alena made water so fast that she was beached at Elysian Fields to prevent her sinking.

Bob Ford Acquitted.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—A Post-Dispatch special from Plattsburg, Mo., says the jury in the case of Robert Ford, charged with the murder of Wood Hite, after being out forty-one hours, returned a verdict of not guilty. Bob was warmly congratulated by his friends and telegraphed the finding of the jury to Governor Crittenden.

Gone Up in Flame and Smoke.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 23.—The Flint mill was almost totally destroyed by fire this evening. It was valued at $800,000; insured for $600,000.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 23.—This evening a fire was discovered in the picker rooms of the Flint mill. When first discovered the flames issued from the belt box of the main belt in the engine-room, in the lower story, and spread with lightning-like rapidity along the belt to the upper story, and in less time than it takes to describe it was bursting forth in every story. The mill was a magnificent structure of granite, five stories in height, and with its equipments, cost over $800,000. The main building was 300 feet long, by 97 feet wide. The picker house, which adjoined the east side of the mill, was also granite and three stories high, with an engine and boiler house on the first floor. When the fire was first discovered the few employees who were in the mill immediately made every effort to extinguish the flames, but without success. Most of the workmen had gone home nearly an hour before, and so the regular fire department of the mill was not available to handle the force pumps and hydraulic ladders after the alarm was sounded, which was directly after the fire was discovered, the lower story of the main mill was burning fiercely, the flames issuing from every room on every floor of the mill on the side next to the picker house. The flames followed the main belt through every floor, and caught on the belts in every room, and flowed along the belts in every belt and cloth adding fuel to the flames. Fifteen minutes after the first alarm, a second was sounded, immediately followed by a third, calling out the entire fire department. Every piece of fire apparatus in the city was put in service. In less than half an hour after the first alarm, the main mill became apparent that the mill was doomed. Directly opposite the burning mill was the Vannoy mill, another massive granite structure, separated from it by only 50 feet. A strong northeast gale blew the cloud of burning cinders straight against it, and its walls began to blacken with the heat. It seemed at one time as if this mill would also be doomed, and word was telegraphed to New Bedford, Taunton and Newport for assistance. The firemen worked heroically and deluged the sides of the mill with well directed streams of water, and saved the mill. Meanwhile the fire in the Flint mill kept gaining headway, and soon the entire mass of burning floor began to fall, and the walls fell in. Then the wind changed to the east and the fire, which had been burning in fitful jets from the north half, leaped from every window, and the entire structure was in flames. The scene at this time was magnificent beyond description. The wind carried the blazing clouds of sparks a distance of nearly a quarter of a mile, and the flames were leaping fully fifty feet in the air, and the entire mill was a seething furnace, against which the streams of water were of no avail. Scores of streams were directed at the mill, but the water before reaching the timbers was caught by the flames and hurled back, and went skyward in great clouds of steam.

The Tramps' Last Efforts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Shortly after six o'clock the pedestrians retired to their tents to prepare themselves for their night appearance. A little troop of four staggered into their houses. It was too evident that the strain upon them had been enormous. There was but one thing to cheer them. In a few hours the struggle on the track would be over. The tramps became enlivened. At 7 o'clock there was an immense crowd present to witness the dying struggle of the pedestrians. The men came on the rock for the last time. The band struck up a lively air. Fitzgerald was dressed in a new suit of white flannel flannels. Noremac was freshened up a little in white suit trimmed with a silk cap. He seemed to be better able to bear the torture of the last miles than the other tramps. Hughes appeared in a new silk belt, but his trappings could lighten the deadly pallor of his face, the almost idiotic stare of his eyes. Once as he was passing the scorer's stand he looked at the clock appealingly, as if mutely begging it to move faster to the end. Someone shouted, "Take him off the track." A woman in one of the boxes said disapprovingly: "Why, the ideal let him go on." The man ran a little, together with Hughes, whose knees sank under him whenever he attempted to quicken his pace. At 10 o'clock the race was a thing of the past, the score being as follows: Fitzgerald, 577 miles, 2 laps; Noremac, 577 miles, 4 laps; Herty, 541 miles, 1 lap; Hughes, 525 miles. The gross receipts, including bar and all other privileges were $26,203.

More Violence at Grand Forks.

GRAND FORKS, Oct. 28.—Our city has again come to the front and sat down upon the rape fiends. A man went to the school house grounds and hung around the outbuilding, and when the school girls came out exposed his person and in an indecent proposal to one of them. The child told her teacher, and when she went home told her parents. Everything went along quietly, until several determined men signified their intention of treating him to a coat of tar and feathers. They went to the Griggs house and took him out of bed, yanked him over to the railroad bridge where Thurber was hung, and told him he had but a short time to live. At last he partially confessed the deed, but said that he did not intend to force the girl. He was then taken to a quiet spot, and his clothes stripped off him. He was then covered from head to foot with tar and feathers. He gave his name as Andrew Elliott, from Almond, Ont. He said he would rather take a coat of tar and feathers than be hung. There is a feeling prevailing that the man was not guilty, but his confession stands against him.

Cussedness Terribly Punished.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—This morning at 7 o'clock, the tug Wetzel blew up ten miles south of here, opposite Oak Rock. She was racing with the tug Sil and her steam was up to the highest notch. All on board were blown to atoms, and scarcely a whole plank to be found. The killed are: Frank Lovell, of Chicago, captain; Wm. Kelly, of Chicago, engineer; P. White, of Racine, fireman. Both tugs had from Racine, and a long and bitter rivalry has existed between them. They have often injured vessels through their endeavors to obtain a tow, and the owners have been arrested and heavily fined several times. At times the tugs have been sent crashing into each other with a view of demolition, so bitter was the hatred between the two captains. All the killed men have families.

Bold Attempt at Child Stealing.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28.—A bold attempt at kidnapping was made to-day on Superior street, during the busiest part of the day. A lady, accompanied by a five-year-old child, was looking at a display of goods in a store window, when a middle-aged woman, unobserved by the mother, threw the skirt of a waterproof she wore around the child, picked it up, stifled its cries, and hurried into a passing street car. The mother did not miss the little one for some moments, and discovered her loss only in time to look eagerly about and see a strange woman enter the car with the child, and to rescue it, but was too excited to take measures for have the arrest of the kidnapper, who escaped.

Troops Protecting Lynchers.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 28.—The Third battalion state guards, of which the Lexington company is part, is ordered to report for service not later than Monday, to convey from here to Cattlesburg and guard there during the trial the murderers Neal and Graft, and fears of attempted lynching are entertained. The prisoners have been once sentenced to death for the horrible Ashland outrage and murder, and Ellis, the third person implicated, and confessor of the crime, was hanged by a mob at Ashland.

Scandal at Winona.

WINONA, Oct. 28.—Wm. Beals, ex-member of the state legislature and at present a member of the Winona police force, was found in the apartments of the wife of a man named Thompson. The latter is a carpenter employed at Minneapolis and returning home at midnight, quite unexpectedly, he at once had Beals arrested. The preliminary examination was postponed until Nov. 11. The case has made quite a sensation here.

Tricycles for Postmen.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The mail collectors of Washington are experimenting in the use of tricycles to collect mails. The results are very satisfactory, the collector being able to go over his route in much less time with greater ease. The vehicle is specially prepared for collecting mails, being provided with a bag for mail matter. They will be adopted generally in large cities.

The Deadly Pancake.

BUFFALO, Oct. 27.—Alvis Regan, a hotel keeper, with his wife and family were poisoned by pancakes. One child, Frank, has died, and two of the children may recover. The father and mother are in a precarious condition.

A Ghastly Sort of Swindle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Chas. Bailey, of Erie, Pa., was arrested to-day, charged with swindling undertakers by means of bogus checks. He first gave an order for coffins and then tendered a check, taking the balance in money.

Killed His Cousin.

GALVESTON, Oct. 26.—The News' San Saba special says: Tom Jones was killed by his cousin, Wm. Jones, in a quarrel about a horse race. They are the persons who had a shooting scrape with a constable some time ago.

He Held up the Mail Bags.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—Frank A. Crowl, assistant postmaster at Wellboro, has been arrested for rifling registered letters. His stealings amount to a considerable sum.

Walt Whitman Seriously Ill.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 27.—Walt Whitman is so seriously ill with Bright's disease, that few if any hopes of his recovery are entertained.

The Primaries.

In the First ward, Messrs. Geo. P. Flannery, Dr. Porter, W. A. Bentley and Robert Macneider, were elected delegates to the county convention. In the Second ward, Wm. Franklin, L. N. Griffin, Walter Sterland and John Hoagland were elected; and in the Third ward, John A. Stoyell, Major Diekey, T. W. Griffin and J. H. Marshall, were chosen. The first ward delegates were elected fairly and squarely, but in the other two wards the delegates were elected dishonestly through the manipulations of Stoyell and Griffin, who have proven that they will resort to the basest sort of means to carry their ends. Such high handed outrages were practiced Saturday in the Second and Third wards will certainly be defeated at the polls.
